Kia Ora everyone!

What amazingly kind weather we are having. The occasional storm for a bit of variety, but then, sure enough, here comes the sun again! I'm sure I am getting a tan whilst sitting here at my computer.

I am really looking forward to hearing our speaker this month. Donna is going to talk to us about how we can use Facebook as another tool in finding more information on our whanau. This is a subject very close to my heart as I have been using Facebook as a means to track down the living descendants of my husband's maternal DESMOND family.

I had done a huge amount of research at the National Archives and had been able to build up a pretty complete family tree of the descendants born in New Zealand, but of course, it all got stuck at around the 100 year mark. I was able to learn more by using the cemetery records and grave websites, but that only took me so far. It was the living I was interested in. I wanted to find as many people as possible because I am organising a DESMOND Descendants Gathering for this September.

So the problem going around in my head was; "How do I find our generation, and their children?" My eureka moment came when I realised that Facebook could provide the answer.

I set up a page for the original settler, John DESMOND, who arrived with the 65th Yorkshire Regiment in 1846, along with his wife and infant son.

So I created the "John Desmond" page even though they didn't have a date of birth option for 1812 – funny that eh! He even has a profile picture! We don't actually have a picture of him, so I used a photo of his headstone! He and his wife are buried at Mount Street Cemetery in Wellington. (Apparently it is the oldest Catholic cemetery in New Zealand.)

Slowly but surely I began receiving replies to my "Friend Request" from the younger generation of users, who then put me in touch with their parents. "John Desmond" now has over 50 "Friends", all blood relatives, and this has led to many more contacts with family members.

If you are not on Facebook, now might be the time to think about it. Come along and hear what Donna has to say. You might just find a very good reason to get started.

Don't miss these!

Special event for Family History Month.

Wednesday August 17th August, 7.00 pm. at the Kapiti Community Centre

The speaker is well known author and journalist Gerard Hindmarsh

Born in Wellington in 1957, Gerard had a variety of jobs before finding his forte in journalism. His feature writing has won a number of awards and he was National Radio's Asian correspondent to Kim Hill's show for many years. Among his several published books is Angelina, the story of his Italian grandparents and their isolated life on D'Urville Island when they migrated to New Zealand in 1906.

TODAY! Thursday July 21st - 5.30-7pm. Overview of resources at the APFHC

This session will include using FindMypast and Ancestry, particularly for census records.

Family History Month in August. We will be holding two research days open to the public- on 6th and 20th August from 11am-3pm - when individual help will be offered in 2 hour slots.

How To: Electronic scratch pads

What are they?

Electronic equivalents of all those scrappy bits of paper you lose. Why not lose them on your computer instead? At least you can use your computer search facilities to find them again!

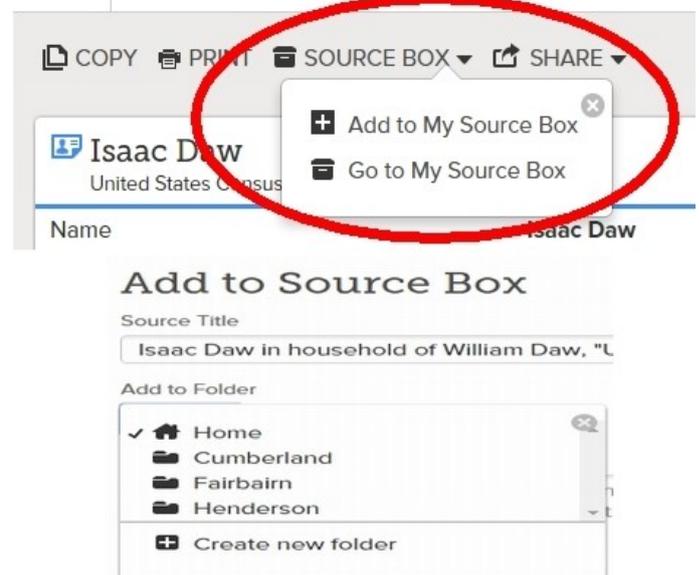

Two research-site specific tools are the SourceBox on FamilySearch, and the ShoeBox on Ancestry.

To use either you will need to be registered, logged in as you and looking at the record you wish to save. Both are very useful for quickly saving records when you are on a roll, finding things that you are not yet sure are relevant and don't want to stop and process fully at the time. Both save links in their respective SourceBox/ShoeBox rather than the full details including images if applicable.

The caveat with the Ancestry ShoeBox however, is that to retrieve the associated document you will need to have a current subscription relevant for the region concerned.

Continued next month with the more generic, ie not specifically genealogy site, equivalents: Evernote or Onenote

Update on the Schools Admissions Registers project

This project has been running since January 2015. Its purpose is to digitize as many of the schools' admissions registers as possible, as they can be a useful research tool for genealogists. A similar project 13 years ago transcribed records of Paekakariki, Paraparaumu, Raumati Beach and St. Patrick's schools, up to the 1970s. We have now brought many of these up to December 2014, as follows:

All 1849 Paekakariki records have been transcribed, checked and corrected (where necessary).

All 3357 Raumati Beach School records have been transcribed. Checking is well advanced. I still have to enter a few years of corrections for checked data.

11 years of Paraparaumu Beach School data have been entered, and are in my hands. 19 years of data are in the hands of transcribers (some have multiple years). Only 20 years remain to be given to transcribers.

I recently visited St. Patrick's school and copied the 11 years of outstanding data from their registers. This school has relatively few admissions per year, so the data won't take long to process.

All 120 years (I don't know how many records yet!) of Waikanae School data have been transcribed. Checking is yet to start and 120 years worth of data will be a very big job, so some transcribers are changing to being checkers to help with this. Thanks to those who agreed to the switch.

Bill McKeich has spoken to Kapanui School and they are keen to have their registers transcribed. So, this will be the next school we do (after St. Patrick's).

I must express my thanks to Bill McKeich who makes first contact with each school and describes the process to them. This makes it very easy for me to turn up and start copying. All the schools have been very accommodating.

In September, the checking of Waikanae School will begin. Also, Bill McKeich has arranged for me to copy Kapanui School, which should give us data to work on in the New Year when it's difficult to gain access to schools. It should obviate the situation we had at the beginning of this year, when for many weeks I had no data to give out.

Current transcribers are: Brian Ross, Derek Griffis, Rodney Foster, Stephen Sherring, Hanley Hoffmann, Bev Chappell, Alison Chappell, Maria Frazer, Elizabeth Lynch, Diana Marsden, Dandy Collings, Frances Braddick and Bill McKeich.

Current checkers are: Deborah Shuker, Kathy Callaghan, Meryl Opie, Margaret Murton, Esther Rudd and Gay Ruddleston.

My thanks to all helpers, past and present, for assisting with this project.

Breaking news!

At the NZSG AGM in June the proposed new rules were passed. We still have no confirmation that they have been registered with the Registrar of Incorporated Societies, but it will mean that members of the Kapiti Branch who are not full members of NZSG will be able to serve on the Branch Committee.

As soon as we have definite news, we will pass on the details.

Congratulations to our local Councillor, Peter Gibson, who was elected as Treasurer.

APFHC News

Help instructions for the above program are now on our website under Membership > Members only.

Help Sessions

Bev Chappell organises sessions to help with research for the public and members on Wednesday mornings from 10-12am at the APFHC.

Volunteers to help with these sessions are always welcome and appreciated by those needing assistance.

Research Assistance

Apart from the weekly Wednesday morning sessions, members needing assistance with their research can use the KapitiGen Forum form on our website (<http://www.kapitigen.org/resources/research/genforum/>).

Your request will be passed on to someone who has expertise in that area.

Location at Paraparaumu library

Our facility, the Alison Procter FHC, is on the ground floor of Paraparaumu library. Turn right inside the door and go to the far wall.

The keys for the APFHC cupboard are held at the Welcome Desk opposite the library entrance. Please replace the cover on the computer when you leave and lock the keyboard in the cupboard. Any matters relating to the Kapiti Branch should be taken up with a committee member, not library staff.

The Kapiti Genealogy Menu

Remember that you do not have to load physical cds.

Simply click on the image of the cd beside the resource you want to view, then click on the title. If there isn't a cd image, just click on the title.

Computer Password at the APFHC

The APFHC computer password changes regularly: check the red folder in the drawer. Members need to get the cupboard key from the library Welcome desk. We also ask that you sign the blue sign-in book found in the drawer - such statistics help us when applying for grants.

Printer, Paper and Toner

Please remember that you are asked to contribute 10c per copy for the printing service provided. This amount does not even cover the cost of the toner used.

Where possible use memory sticks instead to record the results of your research.

Computers

We ask for your consideration on Wednesday mornings. If you are researching and do not need the help of the volunteers, please consider coming at a time other than the 10 to 12 timeslot, when use of the computers is at a premium.

Round Robins

If you wish to subscribe to either of our Round Robin magazines, contact Meryl Opie at (RoundRobin "at" KapitiGen.org) Further details on our website under Resources > Round Robins.

Subs $15 per year starting Jul/Aug) to either Family Tree magazine or Who Do You Think You Are.

This is a really good way of keeping up with the latest news and having access to interesting articles without having to subscribe to the magazines. They all have a wealth of ideas and information.

When the 'round robin' of subscribers have finished with them, the magazines are put into folders in our library at the APFHC. So do check them out. Most articles do not date.

DNA

Informal (free) 2-monthly group for anyone interested in adding DNA testing to their genealogy toolkit.
Next meeting Sunday 14th August 2-4pm. Lorna 04 293 7771. All questions welcome.

If you are comfortable associating your DNA data with your tree (on FamilyTreeDNA or Ancestry), have you tried the new partnership between FamilyTreeDNA and Geni?

Geni's World Tree approach, and some new DNA tools, can make it easier to find potential candidates to help with solving your brickwalls

Like WikiTree, Geni can show against a person on the tree, anyone relevant who has undertaken DNA testing. Geni is rather more conservative than WikiTree though for Autosomal DNA, which can make it a little less useful than for y-(direct paternal line) or mt-(direct maternal line) DNA.

From Bill McKeich in Australia

I had the honour to be asked to speak at the unveiling of an Information Board at Yanakie Cemetery , Wilsons Promontory, Victoria, last Sunday. The board featured g g grandparents James and Mary McKeich, Mary's son William Ernest Davis by her second marriage and also two other persons buried in the cemetery, 7 month old Alice Musgrave and Rev. William Brown.

The first three are all in the one grave recently discovered by Ground Penetrating Radar(GPR). William Brown's grave was clearly marked out and as yet Alice's grave has not been found.

During the course of my address I referred to "Trove " as being under fire and I immediately had the audience of over fifty persons' attention. Mind you I had begun my speech with an introduction in Maori which had the same effect.

I am preparing a Power Point presentation entitled "Finding My G G Parent's Grave" which I hope to present to the Branch at a future date.

Bill McKeich (We look forward to it Bill. Ed.)

The subscription is for The Genealogist (<http://www.thegenealogist.co.uk/>).

Along with the standard UK vital records (births, deaths and marriages) and census data, it also has specialised records only available at that site.
