August - Family History Month

Thomas Jolly - born 1894

Family History Month seems to have come around very quickly this year.

Don't miss out on the interesting session planned by the Wellington branches of NZSG for Saturday 20th August - that's this Saturday at the Pataka complex in Porirua. See page 4 for details.

Those researching Australian family will be sorry to see the Deborah has decided to give up leading the Australian SIG. However she has volunteered to continue giving assistance if you email her. Deborah has given freely of her expertise and knowledge over many years - an invaluable resource. Thank you, Deborah on behalf of anyone who has benefitted from your help, including me.

Thanks also go to Judy Olsen, who will no longer be the supper person at our evening meetings. Is there anyone out there who will volunteer to take over this vital position?

This year's Back to Basics course has got off to a great start with 20 participants, including five new members.

Webtember (see page 4) looks as though it would be a great starter if you haven't tried an online genealogical conference previously. You can register for just one session or several and subjects are varied.

If you missed the Branch luncheon check out Deborah's photos on page 5. They had fun.

I hope you find something in Family History Month to stimulate and interest you. Spring will soon be here!

Sheila

speaker, Rowan Carroll, Director of the NZ Police Museum
Will your family be named?!

Supper roster: P - T

Convenor: Denice McCarten

Daytime meeting

When: Wednesday August 24th 1.30 – 4pm
2 - 4pm meeting

Where: Waikanae Baptist Church Café , 286, Te Moana Rd, Waikanae

What: Update and news from the evening meeting followed by discussion and research.

Co-ordinator: Denice McCarten

Branch notices

Welcome to new members: Violet Duguid, Marilyn King, Doug Miller, Mike Scott , Isobel Whooley, Dawn MacPherson and Stephen Allan.

We look forward to meeting you all and sharing your interests.

Back to Basics Workshops. The current series of workshops commenced Thursday 11th August with 20 enthusiastic participants making this the largest Back to Basics workshop series we have held. Of the 20, five are new members to our Branch.

The first workshop was an overall introduction to genealogy with lots of discussion, and hilarity from time to time. Our helpers, Denice, Lorna, Colin and Ian Brooking, were kept fully occupied when we broke into small groups to engage in hands-on workshop activities.

I certainly enjoyed leading this first workshop and we received much positive feedback at the end of the afternoon.

Participants were given the opportunity to visit our Alison Proctor Family History Centre in the corner of the library, where Ian Brooking and Denice McCarten gave a comprehensive overview of our facilities.

Next weeks workshop, led by Ian Brooking, is on 'Searching', which I am sure both participants and helpers will be looking forward too. Ian Barbour

Many thanks to Judy Olsen who is resigning her voluntary position.

Judy has been the refreshment provider at our evening meetings for as long as I can remember.

Judy says " I have thoroughly enjoyed my time in this role. I'm very aware that I was the first friendly face seen at the meetings and that some attendees didn't know or talk to anyone else.

I am very willing to take new volunteers to this position 'through the ropes.'
It's been a good way of meeting the members, and I'm grateful to those who came 'behind the counter' to help out."

Thank you on behalf of all the members, Judy. You did a sterling job and will be missed.

Deborah and OZSIG

I've decided to stop leading the OZSIG as the numbers have dwindled, but have left it open for someone else to take up the lead.

People can still email me questions about Australian research, but the answer won't have the benefit of several brains thinking about a puzzle. That was the value of our group -sharing collective experience.

The first OZSIG meeting I led was on 15 Sep 2009 so it will be thirteen years of enjoyable friendships and genealogical talk.

The research covered included all states excluding Northern Territory and many research lines, although convicts have only recently featured. The unusual surnames like Phin, Vye, Kirchner, Teale and Brittle were welcomed although others showed up. Bill McKeich's research led him to employ ground penetrating radar to find his ancestors' burials. Another member was astonished to discover her very law-abiding mother had "married" in Wellington after fleeing her "husband's" first family in Victoria. The stories are the jewels of genealogy.

Ian Barbour: published in 'The Volunteers' Journal.

You may recall some time ago we published in this Newsletter a short story Ian Barbour had written having researched his Grandfather's life. A significant part of the story covers John Barbour's World War One experiences in the New Zealand Field Ambulance.

'The Volunteers' is the journal of the New Zealand Military Historical Society Inc., is published quarterly and strives to foster the study of New Zealand military history for future generations. Ian's story has been enhanced with the addition of illustrations of the activities of the New Field Ambulance in World War one.

The editor commented to Ian that the story was well rounded.

Ian said "he was quite chuffed and proud to have had his story selected for publication"

NZSG update

The Working Committee tasked with reviewing the rules around Branches and Interest Groups has submitted their report to the NZSG Board. Feedback from NZSG given to the representatives at the recent Lower North Island (LNI) Regional meeting gives us hope that the main issues, levies and protection of assets, will be resolved to the satisfaction of all.

For background information on the issues please refer to the document sent to you back on 16th Nov, and also loaded to our website under the Members Only content, NZSG page <http://www.kapitigen.org/membership/members-only/nzsg/>

NZSG Scottish Interest Group

The next meeting of the NZSG Scottish Interest Group - Greater Wellington will be on Saturday 10th September at 1:30pm at the Tawa Union Church, 6 Elena Place, Tawa.

This meeting is a time to discuss any challenges you may have with your research and in particular with your Scottish families. I'm sure the collective knowledge of the group can give you some good pointers on how to find a way forward. Also following on from the Family History Month event (see page 4) in Porirua we will spend some time collating and sharing some good resources for those people who are beginning their family history journey particularly in Scotland. Afternoon tea will be served and there is the usual small entrance fee of $3.
