Editorial

Flag of Greenland
National Day is June 21st.

Our AGM in May produced a few changes in the Committee. Ian Barbour, our popular Convenor for the past several years, stepped down but remains on the Committee, while Bev Chappell has left the Committee after many years of service.

Bev has been the Branch's dedicated librarian and is well known to everybody as the front of our public research sessions on Wednesday mornings at the APFHC.

Bev also co-ordinates the Round Robin rosters for the Who do the think you are? and Family Tree magazines. She has agreed to continue with the research sessions and Round Robins in the meantime. The Convenor position has yet to be filled, but Ian's comprehensive annual report to the AGM is on our website.

The good news is that Jenny Wilson is a welcome new member to the Committee. See page 3 for an introduction to Jenny.

The Branch history compiled by Clive Palmer is now available in digital form from the website. See page 3 for details. Hard copies can be obtained from the Secretary, while stocks last.

Many thanks to all those who contributed to this valuable record, particularly Clive for his hard work in pulling everything together.

Come and celebrate winter at the Branch's mid-winter lunch on July 7th. See page 2 for details. It's a chance to mix with other Branch members.

Lastly, thanks to Jenny Martin, who is retiring at the AGM (see page 3) as Convenor of the Irish-LNI. She is well known to branch members and is always supportive of branch activities.

Introducing our New Committee Member

I have been a member of the Kapiti Branch of NZSG for quite a while and enjoy meeting people and hearing of their successes.

I come from a farming background on my father's side and on my mother's side the men worked for the railways. My maternal grandparents lived in Ashhurst where I spent the first 12 months of my life. My parents moved to the Trentham Transit Camp and from there to Titahi Bay when I was two. I'm the eldest of three children.

I worked at NZ Post in various typing pools for 10 years until I had my daughter. I returned as a casual employee for NZ Post and went on to work in secretarial roles for other organisations, ending up at Environmental Science and Research (ESR), Porirua. I retired from ESR six years ago.

I am a very family-oriented person. I have two children, Haley and Glen, who have produced 3 grandchildren each, ranging in age from 25 years to 10 years old. I enjoy the times when we gather at my place to celebrate various achievements/birthdays. It's always nice to hear how the older children, in particular, are getting on in their jobs, etc. Our next party is the weekend of 12 June to celebrate Haley's and Glen's birthdays which fall on 13 and 14 June.

News items!

Trove - digitization extended

How many of you have noticed that Trove has extended your ability to edit the OCR scanned newspapers to their other digitized collections - newsletters, almanacs and books?

Read about it here <https://trove.nla.gov.au/news>

I've intentionally left this as the overall blog link, not the specific book one, as I'm wondering how many people are correcting scanned knitting patterns!

Now THAT would require a definite eye for detail.

One of my inherited treasures is one of my Mum's wartime era book of knitting patterns - and I've even knitted a few of them, albeit many years ago now.

The National Archives blog (UK)

This blog always has interesting snippets of history. Here's one example from the 1760s.

Le Quesnoy project

Christine Barbour, Convenor of the Hamilton Branch of NZSG, has asked that we publicize this project.

Christine Barbour

26 May · 🌐

Did you have a family member who fought in Le Quesnoy, France and survived the battle? If so I'd love to hear from you.

After today's successful meeting with the NZ Memorial Museum Trust-Le Quesnoy & NZSG we have outlined a plan to locate the names of 14,400 NZ soldiers who were present at Le Quesnoy between the dates of 23 October/1 November 1918 and 8 November 1918 & survived the battle.

The project is collecting any who died after the 7 Nov. This information will be used in the museum and visitor centre in Le Quesnoy for commemoration and informational purposes.

If you are able to assist please email cjihug@gmail.com

Jenny Martin retires as Convenor of the Irish-LNI

I personally would like to acknowledge the huge contribution Jenny has made to the knowledge and experience of Irish research in this area. Her presence at meetings is inspirational

The Irish-LNI will be the poorer for Jenny's retirement as Convenor. Jenny set up the Irish Interest group in 2005 and has led it for the last 17 years. She is the essence of the Group and has given her time, effort and commitment unstintingly in addition to travelling with her comprehensive library of books for the benefit of all participants.

Many thanks, Jenny.

Ed.

DNA

The June meeting covered a lot of ground (from age calculations for yDNA branches through DNAPainter, granting view access to Ancestry match lists, figuring out where an unknown match might "fit" ++++). I even remembered to send out notes to those who attended!

Our next two monthly meeting is Saturday 13th August 2-4pm. Waikanae Baptist Church cafeteria. Doors open at 1.30pm $3 entrance fee please. All welcome. All levels covered
For updates go to: <http://www.kapitigen.org/programme/interest-groups/DNA>

DNA Tip

If you've tested yDNA or mtDNA at FamilyTreeDNA as well as having your autosomal results there (either by testing their FamilyFinder or using the uploads from other companies) and are wondering how close any of your y- mt- DNA matches might really be, one of the first things I check is whether or not they also appear in the FamilyFinder matches.

You can tell from the list of tests beside (mtDNA) or underneath (yDNA) their name in your match list whether or not they have FamilyFinder results as well as their y- and/or mt-DNA

Scroll down the home page to Additional Tests and Tools, selecting Advanced Matches.

To find this quickly, add a quick link to top of the page for Family Finder Advanced Matches.

Check both FamilyFinder and the all yDNA or all mtDNA, AND check 'only show people I match in all selected tests', then Run Report .

The attached image (right) is for a yDNA tester.

Choose which tests to compare: The more options you choose, the longer the report may take.
